

PS YOUNG SUPPORT

The research project PS Young Support is studying whether or not an Internet based support can help young people who are close to someone, a friend or family member, with mental illness.

Young people with such experience participated in development and evaluation of the website together with researchers, software developers and a communicator.

The project is linked to The Vårdal Institute – The Swedish Institute for Health Sciences and University of Gothenburg, Sweden.

www.psyoungsupport.se